CLASS HISTORY

In the fall of 1949 we began our adventures at our alma mater—adventures that lasted six memorable years. The uncertainty we seventh graders felt soon wore off and we settled smoothly into the routine of new classes and became acquainted with a host of new friends. Those three years of Junior High were marked by our participation in the Camera Club and Science Club.

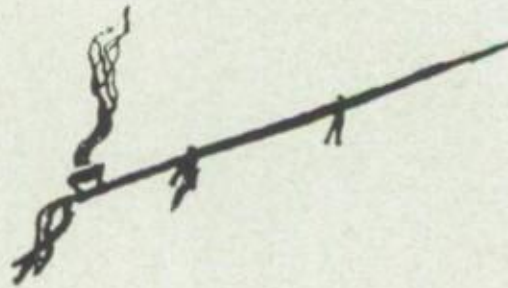

Our Sophomore year found us separating into our chosen courses and as members of the Senior High our extra curricular activities began in earnest. A number of classmates were making prominent appearances in the Glee Club and Chorus; also, quite a few were seen on the basketball and football teams. The Snowball Dance, a March of Dimes Benefit, was sponsored by the Biology Club. The Valentine Dance, presented annually by the Sophomore Class, was a great success.

We were amazed at the dramatic ability our classmates exhibited in the Junior Class Play, "Mamma's Baby Boy." Again several of us participated in the spring operetta. But, of course, the major occasion of any Junior year is the Junior-Senior Prom. Our class certainly outdid themselves in turning the gymnasium into a wonderland of the Hawaiian Islands.

Could it be true? Were we really Seniors already? It certainly was true; our last year at East Huntingdon is the one we will remember most. Early in December "The Clock Struck Twelve" gave more of our classmates a chance to display their talents. The audience thoroughly enjoyed the comedy and suspense of the Senior Class Play. The crowning of our Snow Queen and the Coronation Dance really made us feel as though we were on a "Stairway to the Stars."

After mid-term examinations we became extremely busy with the production of the yearbook. As it goes to press many of us are preparing for the operetta and the climax of our Senior year.

CLASS POEM

Discovery

We have found a joy in learning,
And each new lesson sends
The truth within us burning:
Learning never ends.

We have found the worth of friendship
Is more precious than fine gold;
And those of school-hood kinship
Will be friends when they are old.

LITTLE OTTER FESTIVAL

JUNIOR CLASS PLAY

"The Atomic Blonde"

The play was a combination of comedy and mystery in three acts. The entire action took place in the lobby of Bob Nickerson's and Skid Werling's healthitarium in Silver Springs, a summer resort town in the mid-west.

The story was about a young fellow named Doogie Dean who lived at the hotel. He was wanted by the constable for speeding through town. In order to get away from the constable, he disguised himself as a tall beautiful blonde who was supposed to be a great novelist. He was the Atomic Blonde. Mrs. Pratt, the nosey next-door neighbor, was hired by Gurney Maddox, the town Croesus, to haunt the hotel. He wanted the hotel haunted so that the people would leave it and would not find the money that Bob Nickerson's father had hidden in the fireplace. If they didn't find the money, they wouldn't be able to pay Maddox the money they owed him, and he would become owner of the property.

The Future Homemakers of America is a club composed of Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors who have taken the Home Economic course. The purpose of the organization is to prepare the girls for their lives as future homemakers.

The club meets once a month. In order to make money for the club, the girls have sold candy, Christmas cards, greeting cards, and flavoring. During the past year the outstanding events were: the Sophomore initiation, the trip to Harrisburg to the Farm Show, and the combined meeting with the F. F. A. boys.

The Future Farmers of America is a club composed of all the students enrolled in the vocational agriculture course. The purpose of the club is to encourage members to improve the farm and home, to develop character, to train for useful citizenship, to foster patriotism, and to provide and encourage the development of organized rural recreational activities.

Each year the members of the club attend the Farm Show in Harrisburg and the Farmers' Institute in Mount Pleasant. This year the club participated in an F. F. A. parliamentary procedure contest at Hurst High School. The East Huntingdon team made up of Ernest Brown, Dick Stoner, James Miedel, Joe Dugger, Wally Lowe, Ronnie Fretts, and Eugene Suter, won first place in the competition.

This year's operetta, "Pickles," featuring the combined choruses, under the direction of Mrs. Hyatt, took place in Vienna, Austria, at carnival time. The plot revolved around the scheming exploits of Captain Kinski, the expert advertising of J. Jennison Jones, and the untiring efforts of Lady Vivian Delancey to find her long lost daughter. Gypsy Chief, Jigo, his adopted daughter, Ilona, and the entire gypsy band added color to the musical comedy.

SUMMARY OF THE 1954 FOOTBALL SEASON

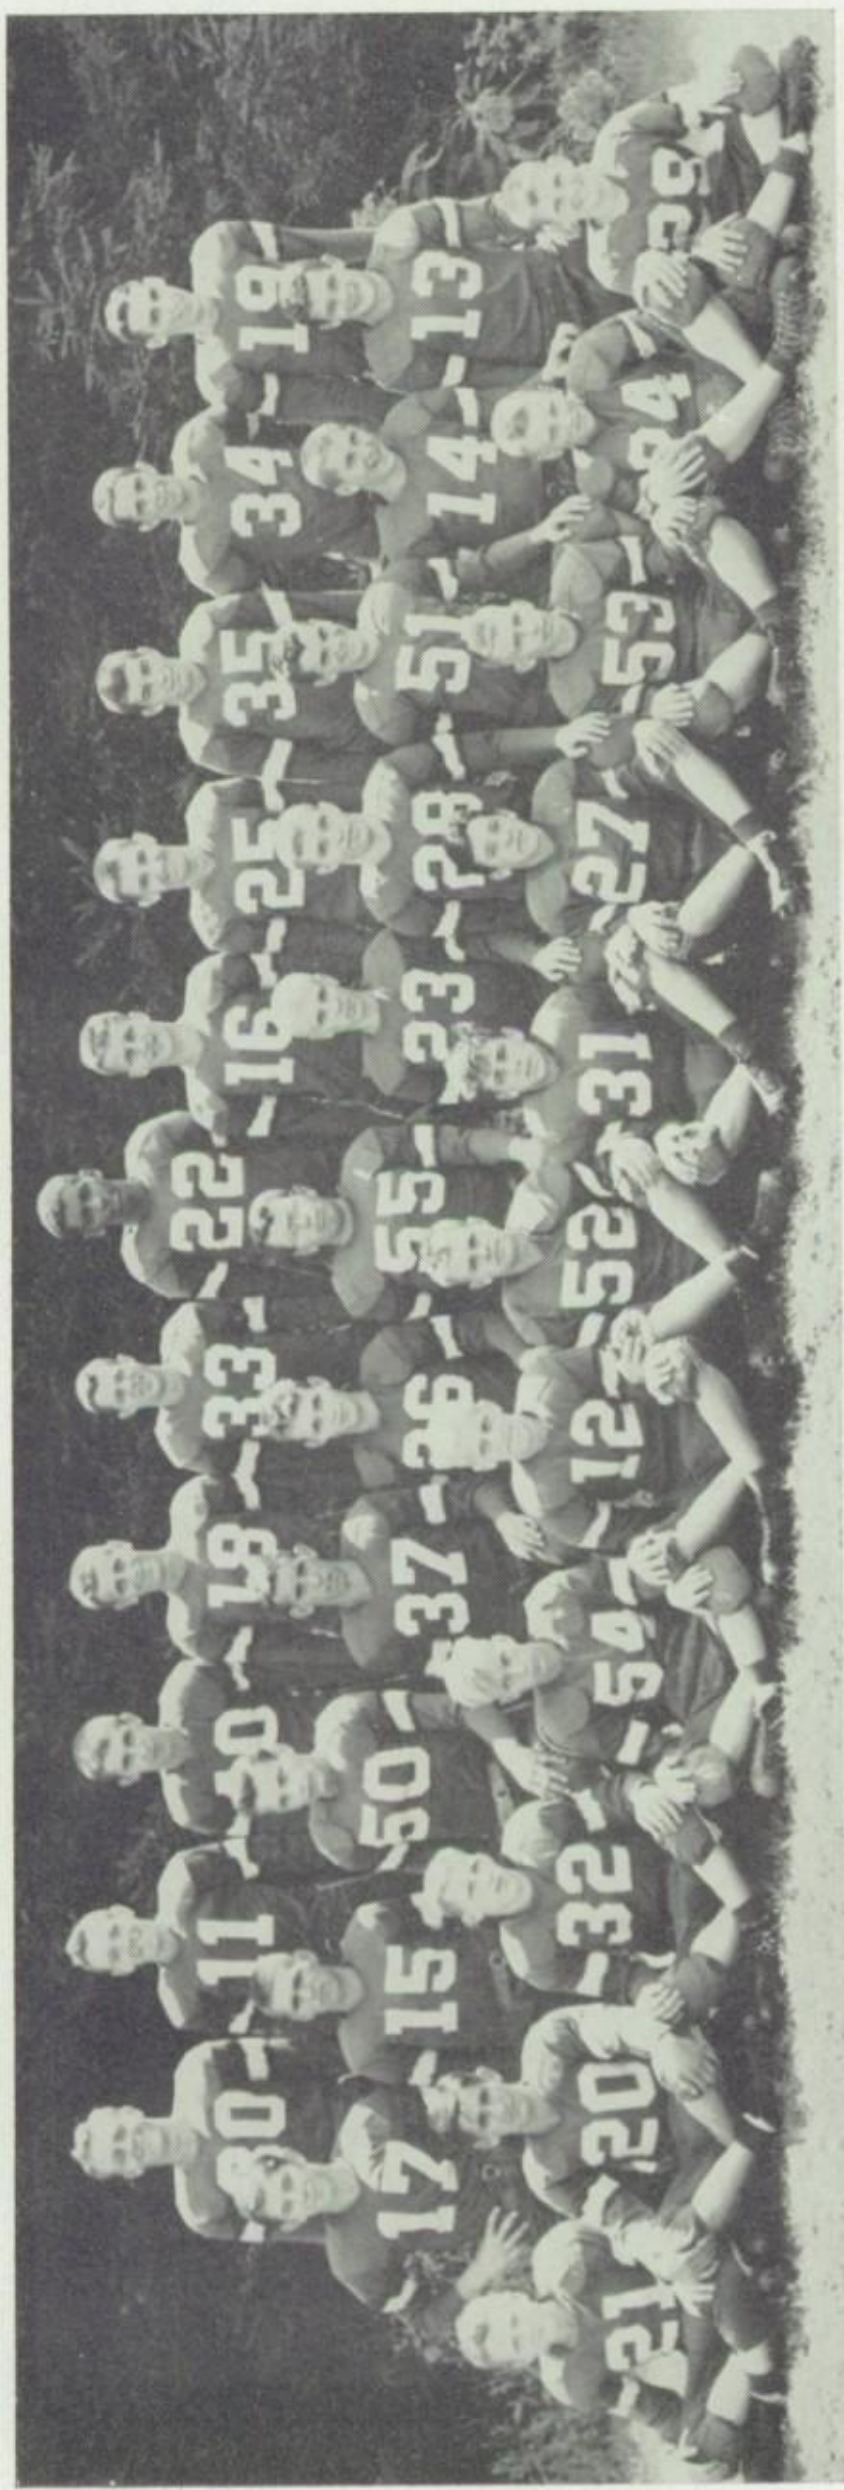

This year the football team did not have a very successful season because they were hampered by injuries and were lacking the necessary experience. Although the team was handicapped, it was a fighting and spirited eleven.

The boys played nine games this year, and won one and lost eight. The season opened at South Huntingdon on September tenth with the latter, Class B W.P.I. A. L. Champions, defeating the Bulldogs 32-0. Then the Bulldog Eleven came back to defeat Point Marion, 38-7, which was the most exciting and best-played game of the season.

The remainder of the season was hazardous for the Red and Black as they bowed to all seven opponents. The Bulldogs played very good games at Ramsay and Scottdale. They also had the honor of scoring more points against classy and undefeated Class A Dunbar than did any other team.

East Huntingdon's team was composed mainly of underclassmen who gained valuable experience. This is an important fact because it will probably provide a great team in the near future.

Varsity Club

The Varsity Club consists of boys who have won the Varsity "E" on the gridiron or on the basketball court. The club received many new members this year. Mr. Puskar, head coach, and Mr. Crawford, assistant coach, are the faculty sponsors.

The officers elected at the beginning of this school year were: Wally Lowe, president; Richard Dillon, vice president; John King, secretary; and Robert Fada, treasurer.

The purpose of the Varsity Club is to raise money for jackets that are awarded to seniors each year. The twelve members who will receive jackets this year are as follows: Jack Antolik, George Baker, Richard Etling, Robert Fada, Clarence Geckle, Wilmer Jakubek, John Kenney, Wally Lowe, Regis Melego, William Prinkey, James Sprinkle, and Philip Weaver.

The senior members wish to thank Mr. Puskar and Mr. Crawford for the assistance they have given them.

1954 - 1955 BASKETBALL SEASON

This year East Huntingdon witnessed its greatest season in the history of the school. Under the capable guidance of Mr. Puskar and his assistant, Mr. Crawford, East Huntingdon had the finest team in years.

The boys won 17 and lost 2 games this year. In the league they won 7 and lost 2. Although they were edged out by Perry Township and Sewickley they showed a fine performance.

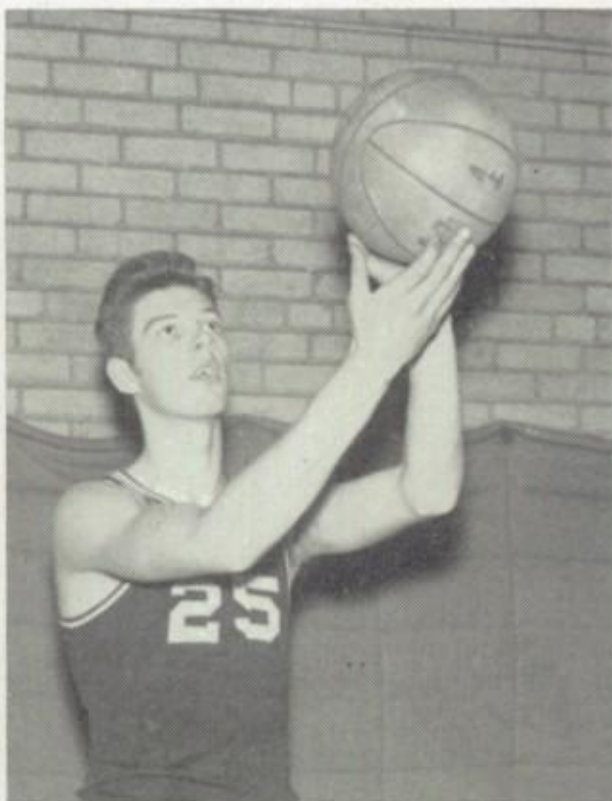

In an outstanding game with Perry Township with East Huntingdon winning 73-54, the team won the Section 17 title and was awarded a plaque. It was the first time that this was accomplished in the history of East Huntingdon. The team entered the W. P. I. A. L. playoffs against East Bethlehem but was defeated 74-48.

Bob Fada and Bill Prinkey were the captains and Bill was also the high scoring senior. Ken Bentz, Bob Fada, John King, and Bob Jakubek also came through with flying colors.

However, no one will forget the records of Joe McNair. The first was the 33 points scored in 3 different games against Trafford, Perry, and West Newton. A second was that he scored 225 points against league competition and a total of 430 in all league, non-league, pre-season, and tournament games. Joe also lead the section with 411 points.

This basketball team was not made over night but came about as a result of Mr. Puskar's three year development plan. He worked constantly with these boys for 3 years. Every game the boys played they showed complete cooperation and as Mr. Puskar said, "Every win was a team victory."

The Senior Class of 1955 wishes to congratulate the team, Mr. Puskar, and Mr. Crawford for a job well done.

CLASS PROPHECY

"YOU ARE THERE"

Good evening, ladies and gentlemen. This is your news commentator, Willetta Love. Tonite we are transporting you to the newest, the most gigantic, ultra-modern airport of the twentieth century. The year is 1975. We're off

We are now in the control tower, overlooking the huge, all-glass airport, which was designed by the great engineer, Frank Grabiak. Working at various positions are: Private James Sprinkle, the radar operator; Lieutenant Richard Coffman, the radio operator; and General George Davis, the overseer.

Now landing on the transparent runway, which was constructed by Henry Rose, is the latest thing in Flying Saucers. There's an inscription written on the side of this one. If I can make it out . . . oh, yes! It reads: "The F. S. Patti Pytlak." Descending from the saucer is pilot Robert Fada. With him are two of the most distinguished doctors in the Universe, Robert Hays and Richard Etling. These two are now working on a cure for space disease. Their patients, who are suffering from two completely different types of this disease, are Nancy Cunnard and J. R. Espey. The crewmen are now disembarking. I recognize Private John Kenney, rocketeer; Private Wally Lowe, ray-gunner; and Private John Bills, handyman.

Leaving the field, we go to hold everything! A space ship has just flashed from nowhere and somersaulted across the runway. It must be a woman pilot! Rushing toward the ship on their little jet-powered tricycles are firemen Eric Hodgkiss and Blaine McFadden. Close behind them are nurses Betty Peterson and Dianna Baumann. I was right. Climbing from the ship comes space woman Barbara Shupe. Staggering close on her heels are Jane Dreliszak, Shirley Cunningham, and Florence Soforic, none the worse for their accident. I'm sure this incident will be in all the newspapers. The famous photographer of the E. H. H. S. "Space News," Sam Davis, and a group of visiting art students: Kay Hollis, Wilfred Fisher, and Ernie Brown, with their teacher, Ira Mullin, have all captured the space woman's plight. I'm afraid the women are in for a reprimand from General William Hallman.

I'm now going to transport you around the field to visit the new shops that have been set up at the airport. Upon entering the first one, we see Regis Melego using a pair of wire clippers on Jerry Eicher's hair. Waiting in line for the new space cut, originated by Jack Antolik, are Joe Skero, inventor of the atomic ray-gun, and Dick Stoner, the Einstein of Agriculture. On the opposite side of the room we see the Chief Justice of the Universal Court, Peggy Keefer getting her hair lengthened. Elizabeth Potoka, now leaving, had her hair styled according to the new rage.

Traveling further down the street we find Philip Weaver's "Caffeine Shoppe." His best selling item is the "space dog," developed by the expert connoisseur, John Bahurka. This man-size dog is exactly twelve feet long. Competent waitresses, Betty Ann Myers, Shirley Moore, and Gladys Snyder, are moving about the room rendering service at supersonic speed. Oh! Just entering the shop are three well known athletes: William Prinkey, Edith Myers, and Catherine Polanovsky. May I have your autographs? Thank you.

Sliding (my goodness, these glass streets are certainly slippery) past the "Space Hop Shop," we catch a glimpse of Clarence Geckle and Leona Stepansky dancing on air to the hit tune of the day, "We'll Build an Elevator to the Moon, It's too Far to Walk." This is featured on record by crooner Ronald Fretts.

Leaving the "Space Hop Shop," we journey across the street toward the Mars Department Store, owned by Irene Hunt and managed by Patty Peterson. On our way we pass Betsy Bair with her nose in a book. Reading again? Let's see. The title is "Ye Old Joke Book," author, Donna Karanovich.

In the department store, a fashion show is in progress. Mary Ellen Davis, famed Hanover model, is modeling the newest style of women's space suits, designed by Victor Babura. James Miedel, Mr. Universe of '74, is modeling the men's suits designed by Jane Wesche.

Returning to the control tower, I notice quite a bit of excitement. Let's see what it's all about. Coming over the wireless, direct from Mars, we hear the familiar voice of Gene Bentz, roving reporter. From what I can gather the President of Mars, Tom Kurimcak, is experimenting on how long it would take a man to parachute from Mars to Earth. His test jumpers are Clyde Weitzel and William Whipkey.

It seems as though all the planets are interested in this experiment. Mary Ann Baer, the President of Jupiter, is delivering a message over the new inter-planetary set, designed by Robert Brillhart. This planet is sending out a crew of outer space men to follow the paratroopers. The crew members are Jack Colbert, George Croushore, and Joe Gettemy who will travel on rocket-propelled broom sticks, invented by Mary Faith Reboy. Betty Oldland and Esther Reese, famous librarians, are in the rumble seats of these contraptions prepared to get the women's view. Due to the fact that the next report from the paratroopers will not be in for at least another fifteen minutes, we will travel to Saturn, where an event of universal importance is taking place.

While the picture is being tuned in, I will give you a few facts concerning the event. A race is being held on the ring surrounding Saturn. The contestants are using atom-powered roller skates built by the renowned skater Ronald Hixson. The picture is in focus now and we can see Dennis Morgan and Dorothy Sidlovsky racing toward the finish line. The winner . . . the screen has suddenly gone black! Could it be that William Howsare is again conducting his chemistry tests and for the hundredth time has interfered with our connection to Saturn? We'll have to wait until later to find out the winner.

The results are now coming in concerning our paratroopers. Oh-h-h! It seems that scientist Eugene Suter forgot that the moon is in the path between Mars and Earth and both paratroopers have fallen into craters on the moon. We are happy to report that they were rescued by Captain Joan Hough and Lieutenants Ronald Ross and Wilmer Jakubek of the Space Patrol. I guess the moon will just have to be moved.

Well folks, I find our time is running out. I hope you have enjoyed your visit into the future. I see George Yezek is at the controls of Robert Shaw's time machine ready to propel us back into the year 1955. All set, sir? Here we go-o-o-o-!

CLASS WILL

We, the Senior Class of 1955, gathered together for the last time in this institution of higher learning known as East Huntingdon High School, do earnestly agree and solemnly declare the following to be our last will and testament.

JOURNEY'S END

Many things the councils taught us
In the sunlight of the springtime,
In the firelight, in the winter.

Taught the legends of our people
Tribes of men which waned and prospered,
How the tribes moved Westward—Westward.

And we learned how great magicians
Created numbers to obey them,
Whispered smallest secrets to us
Length of rivers, speed of eagles;
Many things the numbers told us.

Young maidens learned to make new garments
To prepare the meal for eating;
And our young braves learned how to grow things
Strong, fleet ponies, fields of corn.

Now the time of parting neareth,
From the fires which warmed us, cheered us,
Maiden, warrior—at the fire side
Lit their torches—pine and birch-bark
That the trails ahead be lighted;
And the journey in the future
Leads us to our destination
Unknown, yet loved, Our Destination.
